What Makes Sherene The People IQ Expert

Sherene deeply understands people and empowers individuals and organizations around the globe to bring out the best in themselves and others. She possesses a PhD in Counselor Education, has read thousands of books and articles, authored multiple books and articles, engaged in research and spent a lifetime observing what does and doesn't work when it comes to people, relationships and leadership.

Sherene saves organizations and audiences the time, money and work it takes to gain such knowledge by simplifying and sharing the essential, real-world information they need to obtain the results they desire. Businesses boost engagement, productivity and profitability, and individuals enjoy happier, healthier relationships and greater success in and out of the workplace.

"Thank you so much for sharing your energy with us today, you made it reach out through our screens and touch our hearts!"

Ericka Hargis, Education & Events Coordinator
